

UNIVERSITY OF SOCIAL SCIENCES AND HUMANITIES
FACULTY OF ORIENTAL STUDIES

Programme specification

Awarding institution	University of Social Sciences and Humanities
Teaching institution	Faculty of Oriental Studies
Accreditation institution	Vietnam National University, Hanoi
Name of the final award	Degree of Bachelor
Programme title	Oriental Studies
Faculty	Faculty of Oriental Studies
Objectives of the programme	To train students of Oriental studies to have firm political mindset, disciplines, professional ethics, willingness to serve the country and the people. Students have a thorough understanding of social sciences and humanities; fairly comprehensive and systematic knowledge of Oriental studies with different majors like Indian studies, Korean studies, Japanese studies, Chinese studies, etc. Students possess communication skills in international relations, and be able to use language of their majors (English, Korean, Japanese, Chineses, Thai, etc) in communication and professional activities. Graduates of Oriental Studies can work for domestic and international agencies, organisations, enterprises
Expected learning outcomes	I. Expected learning outcomes in terms of knowledge 1.1. Interdisciplinary knowledge of political, economic, social, cultural, scientific and technological issues 1.2. Background knowledge of social sciences and humanities 1.3. Knowledge of regional studies and Oriental Studies 1.4. Knowledge of the Oriental areas 1.5 Specialized knowledge II. Expected learning outcomes in terms of professional skills 2.1. Reasoning and problem-solving skills

	2.2. Research and knowledge discovering skills 2.3. Ability to apply theoretical knowledge into practice 2.4. Ability to create, develop and embrace changes in their career. III. Expected learning outcomes in terms of other supplementary skills 3.1. Autonomous skills 3.2. Teamwork skills 3.3. Communication skills 3.4. Foreign language skills 3.5. Computer and technological skills 4. Expected learning outcomes in terms of ethics 4.1. Personal ethics 4.2. Professional ethics 4.3. Social ethics
Programme code	52220213
Admission criteria	Admission through the university entrance exam and application review according to regulations of VNU Hanoi and MOET <ul style="list-style-type: none"> - Group C (Literature, History, Geography), Group D1 (Literature, Maths, English), Group D2 (Literature, Maths, Russian), Group D3 (Literature, Maths, French), Group D4 (Literature, Maths, Chinese), Group D5 (Literature, Maths, German), Group D6 (Literature, Maths, Japanese) - Estimated quota: 100 students each batch
Comparative curricula	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> - Curricula of the Faculty of Japanese Studies, University of Tokyo, Japan - Curricula of Cambridge University, UK - Curricula of Santa Barbara University, USA - Curricula of Harvard University, USA - Curricula of Beijing Foreign Studies University, China - Curricula of National University of Singapore - Curricula of Texas University, USA - Curricula of Thammasat University, Thailand - Advanced programmes of Sheffield University, UK
Teaching, learning and assessment strategies	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> - Provide sufficient information about training progress, guidelines for students to follow the curriculum - Provide information about Syllabus, department of academic disciplines, Physical Education, National Defense Education, Foreign languages, graduation papers, etc. - In each syllabus, there is always information about assessment

	according to each course proposed by lecturers
Number of required credit hours	138 credits hours
Form of training	Full-time
Languages	Vietnamese, Chinese, Korean, Japanese, Thai
Duration of training	4 years
Date on which the programme specification was written/revised	October 2012/ latest version, currently used
Publishing institution	USSH, VNU Hanoi